THREE DOLLARS PER ANNUM-IN ADVANCE. LEXINGTON:::FRIDAY, OCTOBER 22.

PRESIDENT HOLLEY.

The "Weekly Recorder," a paper printed at Chilicothe, seems to have suffered itself to become the special promulgator of sectarian misrepresentation, calumny and falsehood. Why the editor of that print, who professes to be religious, should so far descend from the exalted character of a TRUE CHRISTIAN, as to become the publisher of infamous perversion and forged quetations, is to us a source of no little surprize. It can be accounted for only in one way: that is, that Mr. Andrews has never really been dignified as a follower of the Gospel through the immediate interposition of the saviour of mankind. False religion, and a mere external show of the diwine impulses of regeneration and con version, may impose upon a credulous world for a while. But, in order to render a man respectable in the church of Christ-in order to make his prospects of future happinesss in any degree certain, there must be a glorious MEDIATION. This, we fear, has been withheld from the editor of the paper in question .- Otherwise, he would not suffer his columns to abound with the most profligate debasement of truth, and when, too, not the shadow of a circumstance was ever seen to warrant the abominable prostitu-

KENTUCKY AND TENNESSEE

LINE.

We have already informed our readers, that this subjects is now before the legislature of Tennessee, and have shewn by the confession of some of its members, the display of temper which it has uniformly occasioned, whenever it came before that body; and we may infer, that this display will not be lessened, since the controversy has been so much swelled in magnitude and importance; and which is much to be regretted, as the question to be decided is purely a legal see river to the Mississippi; that the one, and such displays may retard its peaceable and quiet settlement. As our own legislature will have very soon to deliberate upon the subject too, it time assumed and enjoyed sovereignty by the "Monitor," against the "Argus' may be proper to take, at this time, a over another territory of considerable attack on the people of Lexington; for concise view of the origin, rise and present state of this controversy.

The charter from the crown of England to Carolina made her northern boundary line, which divided her from Virginia, run due west, from a stake on the sume jurisdiction over this country? Atlantic ocean, in longitude 36 degrees 30 minutes; and this is set forth and and respect abroad; to tell Tennessee, sanctioned in the constitution of North she is neither to bully us, nor to wrong Carolina, Tennessee can therefore us; to shew her that we are neither to say, when our mobocratic character com claim nothing north of that line, which be duped by art, nor alarmed by meshe declares to be her boundary in her nace; that if she, with a territory as amstate constitution; nor can she show, how she has acquired title to any land lying on the north of it.

Kentucky, has on various occasions offered to run and mark the actual line, proposing the charter of King Charles II. and the constitutions of both North Carolina and Tennesse, as the rule by which the surveyors should be governed; but, so far from being met with any kind of cordiality on the part of Tennessee, amicably to settle the dispute, has met with neglect, if not insult; as will be shown in the folterritory, within her real boundary, as large as that of Kentucky, some years ago, dispatched Judge Overton as ambassador to Kentucky, very modestly to The analysis of Mr. Holley's ser- request our legislature to dismember treated politely, listened to by our legislature; but otherwise sent home as ers to ascertain it: Kentucky concurred; to proceed,* and proposed to confirm The Editor of the Recorder charges Welker's line. MEETING AT THE CROWN AND ANCHOR. A meeting at the Crown and Anchor, convened for the purpose of taking into consideration what they choose to call the Murderers and Massacres at Manchester, took place yesterday.

The large room was filled by one o'clock, when loud crics of Chair; Chair! next, and to continue in that country several The large room was filled by one commenced. A party then entered the room amidst tremendous huzzas; and reys made by me in the year 1783, are requested to attend by themselves or agent, to see

Mr. Waddington, &c Mr. Waddington being called to the chair began by stating that he had witnessed many terrible scenes; he had beheld the severities committed in America, but never had he read so terrible a poge as that presented by the details of he atrocitics at Manchester .- (Loud cries of bravo!) He had been also in France, in Spain, and in Belgium; he witnessed four revoltions-(Cries) of wand you shal see a fifihil,)-but never had he beheld any thing so horrible as the conduct at Manchester, the attacks upon defenceless men, harmless women, and suckling children .- (Immense applause!) He conjured them to do their duty: to be firm: and to show themselves worthy of Hambden and Sidney .- (Brave, bravo, bravo!)

Mr. Wooler then rose. He said, bad as was the system, he had never expected to behold such deliberate marshalling of murder and havock, bloodshed and massacre. They did not see the merciless conduct of any one individual; but they beheld a conclave of fiends assembled, and deliberating how they could let cing the two parties, and eulogising the third party of the people he proceeded to state that the said authoritie sopposed all reform, and that the people must act for hemselves. Mr. W. concluded by readng a series of resolutions, declaring the meeting at Manchester to have been legally held, reprobating the conduct of he Yeomanry, condemning the jesuitical circular of Lord Sidmouth, the obscure proclamation of the Prince Regent, and the other acts of ministers; but applauding the conduct of the regular soldiery and calling upon the inhabitants of Lon don, Westminister, Soathwark, and the country, to convene public meetings, and to express their abhorrence of so detestable a crime.

Major Cartwrigh seconded the resolu Mr. Gale Jones at great length, stated his concurrence in all that had been said and concluded by moving, a subscription be opened for the purpose of employing Counsel on behalf of the persons apprebended, and that Mr. Pearson should be their Solicitor. He called on the wid ows and friend of the dead, not to allow their bodles to be interred till bills had been preferred against the Yeomanry

The several resolutions were then pu and unanimously agreed to; and after votes of thanks had been passed to Major Cartwright, to Mr. Wooler, Mi Hunt,&c. the meeting quietly separated.

WHOSE persons, who, during the late Wat were redeemed from captivity with the Indians, by gentlemen residing in Detroit and the Michigan territory,—will confer a favou on the undersigned, by meeting him at Lan phear's Tavern in the town of Lexington of the last Monday in this month. Those will annot attend, will do him a favour, by sendin their affidavits, sworn to before, and certified by, some Justice of the peace, in which is stated, the amount paid for their redemption, and by whom.

This application is made, because congre have lately made provision to discharge those claims; and it is to be hoped, that the soldiers here addressed, will not for a moment neglect the debt of gratitude which they owe those humane and patriotic citizens, who, at moment of extreme peril to themselves, save all the prisoners redeemed, from the suffer-ings and horrors of Indian captivity, and ma-
